Snowfall hampers traffic

Thundershowers early Saturday morning, followed by a four-inch fall of wet snow and another inch of snow Saturday night were responsible for hazardous driving conditions and resulting multitude of traffic mishaps, mostly of the minor variety.

Numerous stalled vehicles were seen about the Quad-City area after motorists drove through melting slush, over six inches deep in many sections, and car engines died. The temperature remained about 35 degrees during the day on Saturday and again Sunday.

Starting with an unknown driver knocking over a traffic signal light on Madison Avenue at 23rd Street at 5:15 a.m. Saturday, Granite City police were kept busy responding to calls for assistance from stalled motorists, who were blocking traffic and at the scene of minor accidents.

Illinois state police and Madison County sheriff's deputies reported a similar rash of minor traffic mishaps in the surrounding region.

From 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Granite City police aided motorists at Niedringhaus and Madison avenues, Granite City Steel blast furnace, 25th Street and Madison Avenue; 2400 block of Missouri Avenue; Manley Avenue and Nameoki Road.

Also, 3600 block of Nameoki Road; Route 3 and West Ponton Road; Nameoki Road and Madison Avenue; Sacred Heart Church; Kozak's Market; 2600 block of Route 3; and a motorist whose horn was "stuck" in the 2400 block of Lincoln Avenue.

Auto accidents, the majority without injuries, occurred at Highway 151 and Rock Road; 1600 block of Ponton Road; Bellemore Village Shopping Center; 25th Street and Grand Avenue; 25th Street and Madison Avenue; near the Central Hardware store entrance; on Highway 151, and at Nameoki Road and Wilson Avenue.

Many other mishaps occurred in which vehicles merely "scraped bumpers."

An accident involving injuries took place at Nameoki Road and Manley Avenue at 8 p.m. Saturday, when a car operated by Delores L. Friederich, 2328 Miracle Ave., and an auto driven by LaDon Blason, 2114 Cheshire Court, collided.

Mrs. Friederich was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for head pains. X-rays were taken and she was released.

Also injured in the same mishap was Denise St. Ivany, 2241 Clinton Ave., a passenger in the Blason car.

Melissa A. Jones, 2130 Cleveland Blvd., sustained injuries at 2:30 a.m. Sunday at Nameoki Road and Wilson Avenue, when the car she was driving slid over a curb and struck a concrete light standard. She struck her head on the car windshield, cracking the glass.

Mrs. Anita B. Carey, 22, of Box 55, Holiday Mobile Home Park, suffered a head injury when the vehicle she was operating in the 1600 block of Ponton Road at 10:30 a.m. Saturday collided with an auto driven by William L. Schertz, HAPPY TWO YEAR celebration is the theme of this observance, a luncheon held Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital for staff members and employees. Sister Mary Thomas, hospital president, and Dr. Robert Blankenship, head of the medical staff, cut a cake to mark the hospital's newly-accorded two-year accreditation, an honor not attained by many hospitals. A New Year's party theme prevailed Friday, featuring streamers, balloons, party hats, confetti and noisemakers.

Hospital accredited

St. Elizabeth Hospital here has been accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) it was announced Friday by Sister Mary Thomas, president. The occurrence was observed at festivities held at the hospital that day.

This accreditation, which covers from 1977 to 1979, is the result of an on-site survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program (HAP).

The standards, published as the Accreditation Manual for Hospitals, set forth optimal achievable goals of excellence against which a hospital can measure itself and be measured by the Joint Commission's survey.

St. Elizabeth Hospital is one of approximately 4,800 general hospitals throughout the United States that have earned this recognition. There are 7,150 hospitals in the U.S.

The Joint Commission's accreditation surveys are voluntary. It is not legally necessary for a hospital to be accredited, but health care facilities have sought accreditation because it represents a benchmark of quality that is higher than governmental licensure alone.

The chief aim of the Hospital Accreditation Program, one of four such programs under the JCAH umbrella, is to help hospitals in the pursuit of excellence and thereby provide a higher quality of care to patients.

The program also seeks to recognize, and to identify for the public, those facilities which meet its standards.

The Joint Commission began in 1918 under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons.

It was incorporated in 1963 with the support of its present member organizations: the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

JCAH is a Chicago-based, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization.

In addition to hospitals, it has programs for the accreditation of long-term care facilities, psychiatric facilities, and facilities for the mentally retarded.

Hearing on nursing home

A public hearing on an application for a permit to build a 176-bed nursing home in Granite City will be held at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, March 10, in the council chambers of the city hall here, it was announced Friday.

The hearing has been called by The Greater St. Louis Health Systems Agency of St. Louis from which authority must be obtained in development of health-oriented projects.

Robert D. Finney, executive director of the Health Systems Agency, said that citizens of the area will be given the opportunity to present relevant written or verbal comments on the proposal during the public hearing.

Construction of the nursing home has been proposed by Jerry Maeras, Madison, as developer, on a site in the 2900 block of Mockingbird Lane between the Steelercrest Addition and the Alton & Southern tracks.

Cost of the project has been estimated at $1,900,000.

The proposal to build the nursing home was presented to the Granite City Council in late 1975 and at first was delayed by steps to determine the adequacy of sewer facilities to serve the nursing home. In March 1976, the City Council approved sewer planning and plans for annexation of the tract to the city.

Council members also approved an agreement under which the nursing home would be deemed to be a city after retirement of a 20-year issue of construction bonds.

After the debt is fully paid, the city would take over the facility and operate it as a municipal establishment.

Financing of the project will be handled by the Illinois Health, Recreational and Retirement Facilities Corp., which plans to issue $1,750,000 in first mortgage gross revenue acquisition and construction bonds and $150,000 in subordinated acquisition construction bonds and development income notes.

Once built, the nursing home would be operated by the Jerry Maeras, Inc.

The city will play no part in the financing, Maeras said.

The board of directors of the Illinois Health, Recreational and Retirement Facilities is to remain in office during operation of the nursing home throughout the 20-year amortization period, according to the agreement accepted by the city. Board members include Miss A. E. Shaw, Madison; Thomas

Propose new bond auditing

Circuit Clerk Willard V. Portell disclosed Friday that funds or records related to two Illinois Commerce Commission cases and also several Illinois Conservation Department cases have been reported missing by his office.

The money for alleged ICC and Conservation violations never arrived at his office, he added in a report to the Finance Committee of the Madison County Board.

Commerce Commission investigators issue tickets against truck drivers for license and leasing violations. Cash posted as bond is placed in an envelope and mailed in investigators' presence, similar to state police procedures.

The committee approved plans for an independent auditing firm to study 13 missing state police arrest bonds dated July 1 through Dec. 31, 1976. In early 1977, Portell arranged for bonds from motorists arrested by troopers to be sent directly to an Edwardsville bank.

The circuit clerk said he has been trying unsuccessfully to also have Conservation and ICC records sent elsewhere. He said he hopes the scheduled audit Khris Whelan, a junior at Granite City High School North, was crowned as the Illinois state 1977 wrestling Class 2A champion in the 98-pound class during the state wrestling tournament held Friday and Saturday at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

Kevin Wilson, a 185-pound senior wrestler at Granite City High School South, earned fifth-place honors during the tournament.

The two who won state honors were among eight wrestlers from Granite City who earned berths in the state meet. Of the eight who entered the rugged state-wide contest, six survived the first round.

South's 145-pound Jim Carmody lost 8-5 to the eventual champion in that weight class, Tony Scott of Rock Island High School, and Mark Widel, 167-pounder from GCHS North, lost 10-2 to the 167-pound runnerup, John McGuinness of Holy Cross in River Grove.

Carmody was unsuccessful in attempts to work through the wrestle-back brackets, losing in his first wrestle-back round to Darryl Piate of Morton Park, High School, Chicago. Widel also met strong competition in the wrestle-back bracket, losing to Oak Lawn's Jim Latawski by a pin in four minutes and 26 seconds into the match.

Man arrested

Arthur D. Weinberger, 28, of University City, Mo., was arrested Friday for the term of Nidringhaus Avenue at 12:30 p.m. Friday and charged with disorderly conduct.

Police said Weinberger had been at McKinley School and became belligerent when asked to leave by Principal Gary Pfroender. He told the principal he wanted to see "his kids," but Pfroender said Weinberger has no children attending the school.

A short time later, Weinberger was seen on the playground among the children. It was reported. He left the school grounds and was picked up by officers.

Weinberger pleaded innocent before Judge A. A. Matosian and was released on $50 cash bond.

Explains legislative issues

An update on key issues in the Illinois legislature was outlined to about 70 persons by State Representative Everett G. Steele (R-Glen Carbon) at a breakfast Friday morning in Granite City.

Rep. Steele said the meeting had two purposes, one to report on issues and secondly to solicit views from people.

Issues discussed included: raising the legal driving age back to 21; throw-away bottle

School filing slow

Filing of nominating petitions by candidates who will seek Board of Education seats was off to a slow start today with only nine petitions filed in all four of the Quad-City school districts in which elections will be held April 3.

In Granite City School District 9, petitions have been filed by George Moore Jr. and Donald Stucke, both incumbent board members. The third incumbent board member whose term expires this year is Harold Davis.

Granite City School District voters will elect three members of the seven-man board in this year's balloting.

Four candidates filed nominating petitions in Madison School District 12. They include Elvers Johnson and Frank Eaves, both incumbents whose terms expire in 1978. BAC Petitions for one of the two posts also were filed by Samuel J. Dymals. All seek three-year terms.

Richard Zeisset has filed petitions as a candidate for one remaining year of the term of Willie Walker who resigned his

Youths break car windows

Granite City police are questioning several youths to attempt to find out who broke four windows in the auto of Shirley Voegel, 3168 Aubrey Ave., parked in the driveway of the Voegel home at 12:10 a.m. today.

Mrs. Voegel said she heard loud noises outside, looked out and saw two youths using what appeared to be a sledge hammer, breaking her car windows.

Her 14-year-old son, Robert, ran out and chased the youths to near Lynn and Wayne Avenues where he lost sight of them.

Mrs. Voegel found the windshield, rear window and two side windows of her car had been smashed.

One youth was described as 15 to 17 years old, about 5 feet, nine inches tall, thin, and wearing a green fatigue jacket, blue denim pants and a dark sock.

The other youth was about 5 feet, 5 inches tall, thin, and wearing similar clothing.

Train uncouples, worker jams leg

Robert Ferguson, 39, of Pittsburg, Ind., a railroad employee, was transferred from Wood River Township Hospital to St. Elizabeth Hospital here at 2:15 p.m. Saturday after sustaining injuries in an accident.

Ferguson said his left leg was jammed between the caboose and a train when the two became uncoupled.

He had x-rays taken and was admitted prior to undergoing surgery.

Coordinated Youth funds get approval

The Pontoon Beach Village Board Thursday night approved payment of $1,506 to the Pontoon Beach branch of Coordinated Youth Services as the board's portion of the annual operating cost of that program.

Bills were paid and a closed executive session was held on the board.

Immediately following the meeting, Freeman Clineard, chairman of a citizen's committee arranging a night of entertainment for the elderly and disabled of the area, addressed the board.

Clineard asked the board's cooperation in contacting senior citizens throughout the Quad-City area, inviting them to attend the event. The board members offered donations to the non-profit project.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL
Anita Howerton, 31, of 2007 Missouri Ave., had x-rays taken and received treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 8:15 p.m. Saturday for injuries resulting from an auto accident on Friday. She was released.

Snowfall

2345 Paul Ave. Mrs. Carey received a lump on the forehead. She had x-rays taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was released after treatment.

Saturday's snowfall was measured at .87 of an inch precipitation, according to rain gauges at the Chain of Rocks locks where weather records are maintained for the Army Corps of Engineers.

An additional .15 of an inch precipitation was recorded for snow falling Friday night and early Saturday, bringing precipitation for the period to 1.02 inches.

The weekend snow fall followed .60 of an inch of rain recorded on Feb. 24. Precipitation also included .87 of an inch (one inch of snow) on Feb. 23, .30 of an inch of rain on Feb. 12 and .05 of an inch on Feb. 13, for total February precipitation of 2.04, exactly the same as the 2.04 normal fall for the month.

This made February the wettest month since November when rainfall totaled 3.92 inches. Rainfall in November was .51 of an inch, followed by a total of .66 of an inch in December. The January precipitation, despite the heavy snowfall, was recorded at the locks here as 1.02 inches.

Coffee

We will become a nation of tea drinkers again! If people start taking a closer look at prices, there's a good possibility.

To find out if tea is really cheaper than coffee, I compared prices of loose and bag tea, coffee and cocoa, using current prices in one major food store.

Here's what I learned: Tea is by far the biggest bargain for the cost-conscious consumer.

A tin of loose tea that makes 240 cups of tea sold for $1.85 recently, bringing the price of one cup down to seven-tenths of a cent.

Bag tea was slightly more expensive but still a good deal — 100 bags of a house brand sold for $1.28, or just over a penny a cup.

The next lowest-priced brew was hot cocoa made with water; one bulk mix sold for $1.99 and contained 32 servings, for a price of six cents a serving.

Cocoa that must be mixed with milk sells for slightly less, but the price shoots up to about 15 cents a serving when you add the cost of eight ounces of milk.

Cocoa in individual envelopes was no extreme bargain, either; 12 envelopes sold for 94 cents, or nearly eight cents a serving.

Coffee priced out considerably higher than tea. A two-pound can selling for $4.41 will make 64 cups of coffee (using one level tablespoon per cup) at a cost of close to seven cents a cup.

Will that win any tea-or-cocoa fans over to dry or cocoa? I doubt it. They'll just keep grumbling and buying coffee.

Audit

will supply guidelines that can fully end the problem of missing money.

Chief Circuit Judge Harold Clark noted that three audits of different types conducted in recent years found nothing wrong in the clerk office. He voiced doubt whether the new audit will be helpful.

State police have been conducting an investigation of bond problems since October. The new audit may aid in their efforts to close out the 13 files, on which records failed to reach the Courthouse.

Fred Dalton of Collinsville, a member of the Finance Committee, proposed Friday the use of a detective.

Arrangements for an audit are subject to the County Board's wishes. There are funds in Portia's office budget to pay for it.

Salaries of supervisor, assessor to be raised

Granite City Council members who also serve as the Granite City Town Board voted last week to increase the salary of the township assessor by $3,000 per year and to raise the salary of the township supervisor by $1,200 per year.

The new salaries will become effective May 1 at the beginning of new terms of these officials. Incumbent Town Assessor Von Doe Cruse now receives $15,000 per year and a $1,200 per year expense account. The raise will increase the salary of the assessor to $20,000 per year, not including the expense funds.

Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer now receives $7,200 per year and an expense account of $100 monthly for a total of $8,400 per year. The salary raise will bring the total for the office to $9,600 per year, including the expense fund. Hagnauer also receives $17,500 as chairman of the Madison County Board.

Changes in the salaries were made at this time because salaries of elected officials may not be changed during the term of office. The new salaries will be effective when officials are elected in the April 3 township elections begin their terms on May 1.

The salary changes were approved on a motion by Ronald Coleman, alderman of the Seventh Ward and chairman of the finance committee.

Several aldermen said they believe that the assessor's salary should be raised to the same as that approved for the city clerk and city treasurer who will receive $20,475 per year effective May 1. The clerk and treasurer also will receive $20,475 in expenses.

Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward, a member of the finance committee, said there was not full agreement on a raise to the $20,475 figure because of a question as to whether the town assessor's office is a full-time job.

"The consensus of opinion is that it is not," Decatur said.

Cold weather and fruit trees

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Advisor

One of the coldest winters in Southwestern Illinois in many years has caused concern about fruit and wood damage to prunus species grown for food.

It's too early to tell the full extent of weather effect, but some predictions can be made. It's doubtful if any trees will die, but various degrees of injury may be seen.

Some bud-hardy peach varieties have 10 per cent to 80 per cent bud survival. Tender varieties have few or no live fruit buds. So, the peach crop depends upon the variety.

There is visible injury to the pith areas of shoots, which may eventually shorten the tree's life. But tree kill, dieback, and trunk injury are unlikely except in isolated locations.

Apricots are about the same as peaches. Sour cherries should be in good condition, but sweet cherries could have both tissue and fruit bud injury.

The European plums should survive the winter with no problems. Japanese plums and Japanese hybrids may show twig dieback, trunk damage and fruit bud loss, depending on variety and location.

Where fruit bud loss and dieback have occurred, no treatments are suggested. If trunk or crotch injury becomes visible, wounded areas should be cleaned of dead bark and painted with tree paint to reduce moisture loss.

Any tree losses in this species that become visible this spring will most likely be due to fall planting, drought or borers rather than cold.

Fruit trees and plants are purchased and planted with the hope of an eventual fruit crop. By buying quality nursery stock, this hope has a better chance of being fulfilled.

Quality nursery stock is that which has a good root system and has been carefully handled to prevent scarring, breakage and drying, and is free from insects and diseases.

Not only should the plants be well-grown, but carefully dug, stored and shipped.

Poor plants are sometimes inexpensive in initial cost, but usually are more expensive in the long term because of poor growth and yields.

The state certificate of nursery inspection is an assurance of healthy plants.

When available, virus-free plants should be ordered. Such plants are superior and are worth the extra cost.

Plants from a non-inspected nursery or from a neighbor's planting may be expensive in that insects and diseases could come along.

Most nurseries guarantee to replace plants which do not grow or which aren't true-to-name. This guidance is only partially satisfactory, because there is a loss of labor and a year's loss of growing time.

It's best to get good trees and plants and give them the tender, loving care needed for growth and fruiting.

State debt must be based on authorizations by laws

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has advised Auditor General Robert Crosson in a formal legal opinion that the Illinois Educational Consortium is not empowered by law to borrow money.

Scott's answer last week related to a question raised by Crosson about a transaction whereby the Consortium borrowed more than $200,000 for purchase of computer equipment and then entered into a lease-purchase agreement with Illinois State University for use of the equipment.

The members of the Illinois Educational Consortium are the governing bodies of the University of Illinois, Southern Illinois University, the Board of Regents, and the Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities.

Scott's opinion noted that while the Consortium "serves a worthy purpose," it cannot lawfully create a state debt in violation of Section 9 of Article IX of the Illinois Constitution, by acting as an agent of a university. Universities also are constitutionally prohibited from creating a state debt unless it is approved by law.

Youth workshops on energy conservation

The Energy Resource Management Program of Eastern Illinois University will sponsor, along with two other agencies, six energy conservation youth training workshops in Illinois.

The program involves high school and junior high students and will stress a leadership role for youth in energy conservation. The local area training is set for March 31-April 1.

Workshop teams will be composed of teachers, youth group leaders and students. William B. Fillman of Eastern, state coordinator, said each adult is being encouraged to bring four or more students to make up a team.

Fillman said participants will develop:

- A personal energy conservation ethic; programs and activities in cooperation with teachers and youth leaders for presentation to other youth; ideas for their families to reduce fossil fuel use; and techniques for peer group motivation in encouraging a commitment to energy conservation.

Members of Madison Police Unit 110 were lauded before an audience of nearly 200 persons at a dinner in the Madison Recreation Center last week.

The event was the annual family night of Explorer Post 10-4 that has been sponsored by the Madison Police Unit 110 for nearly eight years.

Bruce Rotter, immediate past president of the four-state Great Central Explorer Area, said in making the presentation, "I have talked to a lot of Explorers and one thing we generally talk about is our sponsoring groups, and I can say without reservation I truly believe no group has a sponsor more interested in youth than the Madison police."

On behalf of the post, Rotter presented to Sgt. William Papa for Police Unit 110 an engraved plaque.

Other past presidents assisting with the presentation were Bill Weidner, Jack Small and J. Richard Hooks, with Gary Graville, current president.

The purpose of the dinner was to honor the families of the members and allow them to get better acquainted and to pay special tribute to those who have rendered service to the post "above and beyond the call of duty," according to President Graville.

Two parents were honored. Harlin Hooks of Venice was presented a plaque and made an "honorary member" of 10-4 for donating a week of his vacation to go with the Explorers on their "Super Activity" each summer for the past four summers.

Mrs. Bernadine Weidner, the first woman post committee member, was dubbed the post's official "Wonder Woman" because whenever they need, help from selling tickets to operating there "Haunted House," or calling parents in emergencies, she always is available to aid in anyway.

Christ D. Kacaleff, who was invited as a special guest but was unable to attend, sent his 12-year-old son, who is to represent him. A plaque was given Kacaleff for his assistance during the past three years in helping the post raise money for its activities.

Ed Ray Dubish, president of the Madison Board of Police

Commissioners and a charter member of the post committee, also was honored for his continued support of the program and help given the members.

A "Key Stone Cop" decanter was presented to Officer Donald Bridick who was chosen "committee member of the year" by the officers of the post. Bridick has been active with Explorer Post 10-4 since its beginning and served two years as the post adviser. Bridick also has attended numerous conferences and other Explorer activities.

After the presentations, slides and movies were shown of some of the places the Explorers have visited during the past few years, which include Colorado, Washington, D.C., Texas and Mexico; and last summer, Disney World and Daytona Beach.

G. Rollin Henn, past president of the Cahokia Mound Council, presented the official unit charter from the Boy Scouts of America to Sgt. Papa, representing the sponsor.

Guns, cash gone from apartment

Joe Ray, owner of the Good Neighbor Tavern, 916 Niedringhaus Ave., reported Thursday the theft of two weapons and cash from his apartment at the rear of the premises.

Ray said the guns and money were hidden in the bathroom. Missing are a .45 Webley blue steel revolver with wooden grips and two clips; a .22 caliber nine-shot blue steel pistol with fancy hand grips; and $200 cash.

Mrs. Seide Bringer, presiding officer, appointed a nominating committee for 1977-78 officers. The budget was reviewed and everyone was asked to assist at the carnival as proceeds will be used for playground equipment and field trips. The picnic date was disclosed and again scheduled at Wilson Park.

Refreshments were served by the fourth grade room mothers.

Federal tax law changes affect the Illinois returns

(Last of a series of six articles on 1976 income taxes, prepared by the Southern Chapter of the Illinois CPA Society.)

Illinois taxpayers will find that there are few changes in this year's Illinois individual income tax return (Form IL-1040).

J. Darrell Burton, president of the Southern Chapter of the Illinois CPA Society, says that about the only difference between this year's form and last year's is that the date has changed.

But the fact that no new tax legislation has come out of Springfield this year doesn't mean an individual with the same income and expenses this year as last will pay the same amount of tax, he points out.

Some of the changes in the federal tax law will affect the amount of taxable income on the Illinois tax return.

His commentary follows: After listing your gross income on the federal tax return, you are permitted to deduct certain business expenses to arrive at what's called your adjusted gross income.

This figure is also used on the state income tax return.

The state of Illinois says, in effect, that what's good enough for the federal government is good enough for the state.

But the Tax Reform Act has tightened up the business deductions that you are permitted to take under federal law — such as the home office deduction.

As a result, many taxpayers' adjusted gross income will be higher on their federal return this year, and consequently on their state return.

At this point, the computations on federal and state income tax returns differ. The state adds certain items to your adjusted gross income that are not taxes on the federal tax return, but this must be added to adjusted gross income on the Illinois return.

Other items are subtracted from the adjusted gross income figure on the Illinois return.

For instance, if you receive a refund of Illinois income tax during 1976, you may have included that refund in your federal adjusted gross income. If so, you can now subtract that amount on your Illinois income tax return.

At this point, you may also subtract $1,000 for each personal exemption claimed on your federal tax return.

The rest is easy. After you've added and subtracted the above items, you compute your tax by multiplying the resulting figure by 2.5 per cent.

Check this against how much you've already paid in as Illinois withholding or estimated payments, and the difference is what you owe or, if you're lucky, what you can expect back.

What's in store for next year? Assuming the Illinois income tax law doesn't change, certain federal laws will come into play which will affect the way adjusted gross income is computed on your federal tax return, and as a result will also affect your state tax return.

For example, if you pay alimony for 1976, you can deduct those payments, along with interest payments, certain medical expenses, real estate tax payments and other allowable deductions after you have computed your adjusted gross income on your federal return in determining adjusted gross income. This will result in a lower adjusted gross income on both the federal and state returns.

Don't let this throw you. It's really not as complicated as it sounds. Remember, there are no changes in this year's Illinois income tax form.

'Lifeline' utility rate plan called harmful

So-called lifeline legislation being considered in the General Assembly would drive more jobs out of the state and, in the long run, would hurt the people it seeks to help. That is the assessment of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association of efforts to cut electric bills of small users and increase the bills of larger users.

In urging retention of the present "cost-of-service" rate policy, IMA President Orville Bergren said last week, "This legislation, which would add about $250 million to the electric power costs of larger users, including industry, would have a damaging impact on the already sick business climate of Illinois."

"Cost and profit figures of utilities, broken down by class of users, show that utility companies make more profit on service to large users than on small ones, despite lower rate per unit of energy to large users," Bergren said. He stressed that higher electric rates would force big users to produce their own power, compounding the problem for the rest.

"Higher gas rates would add to the movement of manufacturing jobs out of Illinois," he added.

"The Federal Energy Administration, after a recent comprehensive study, recommends against such 'lifeline' rates. In California, after a year under its lifeline law, things are in such a mess that the California Energy Resources, Conservation and Development Commission recommends against it."

"Some large users of electricity — hospitals, government agencies and industry — had rate increases of up to 48 per cent."

"Large gas users had hikes of up to 79 per cent."

"The prices they charge for their services and products have risen to levels that make this rate hike."

Irving Berlin music is Barbershop show theme

Songs written by Irving Berlin will be featured in a show entitled "Mr. Music" to be presented by the Mississippi Valley Barbershop Chorus of Collinsville, at its annual event scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday, March 5, at the Webster Junior High School, Collinsville.

Directing the show is George Holzschner, formerly of Granite City, and Don Hadfield, assistant director.

The most popular selections to be included on the musical program will be "Easter Parade," "Alexander's Rag Time Band," and "White Christmas."

The Four Star Edition, a Sweet Adeline quartet from Decatur and Bloomington, Ill., and Grandma's Boys from Chicago, will perform in addition to the 45-man chorus.

Join State Farm $1 million club

Mike Toundas, 1801 Pontoon Road, Tom Thebeau, 2534 Madison Ave., and Bill Frazier, CLC-PCU, 2126 Pontoon Road, placed $1 million or more of life insurance during 1976 to earn the recognition.

State Farm, the largest car and home insurer in the nation, ranks eighth among 1,800 life insurance companies, based on personal life insurance in force.

Japanese steel imports up 37% to record level

Japanese steel imports — concentrated heavily on the Gulf Coast and West Coast — increased last year by 37 per cent over 1975 to a record eight million tons.

The rise in Japanese imports was especially evident in the last quarter of 1976 when steel imports from all countries accounted for 18 per cent of apparent domestic supply of steel, the American Iron and Steel Institute said Friday.

Of total imports of 14,284,625 tons, Japan accounted for 7,984,131 tons, or 56 per cent, official U.S. government data shows. Until last year, Japanese imports represented no more than 49 per cent of the total, a peak reached in 1975.

Domestic steel shipments in 1976 totaled 89.4 million tons, up from 80 million tons in 1975. Imports of stainless steel of 174,712 tons increased by 4.5 per cent over 1975 despite specially steel import quotas which went into effect in June of last year.

Imports of tool steel also rose — from 24,603 tons in 1975 to 27,609 tons last year. Imports of carbon steel increased by 20 per cent in the same period. The EEC-Japan agreement covers carbon steel.

Domestic mills last year exported 2.7 million tons of steel valued at $1,254,594,000, which means that the 1976 U.S. steel trade deficit reached $2,770,619,000.

Election guides for high school teachers

"Elections Briefs," education guides for high school teachers published monthly by the Illinois State Board of Elections — in cooperation with the State Board of Education and the Illinois Council for the Social Studies — are available upon request.

Franklin J. Lundberg Jr., chairman of the Board of Elections, said the guides now are being sent to more than 1,000 history and civics teachers throughout the state.

The teachers are using them in courses designed to educate prospective voters on election laws and procedures.

"The Election Briefs provide background information, suggest student activities and list reference works to help prepare the student for his role as a voter," he said.

Five Election Briefs now are available:

• Voter qualifications and Registration — to help develop an understanding of the requirements for voting and provide information on the national trends affecting registration procedures.

• Why Vote? — to explain the importance of voting.

• Voting Procedures — to acquaint students with how to vote.

• Voting Devices — to introduce the various voting devices currently used in Illinois.

Judges of Election — to describe the duties, qualifications and methods of appointment of judges of election.

North plays Tuesday, South Wednesday in regional tourney here

GCHS North and GCHS South will join two East St. Louis squads in Class AA regional page action here this week. All four teams have hopes of joining regional victors from Belleville East, Alton and Collinsville in sectional competition March 8, 9 and 11 at East St. Louis Senior High School.

North's Steelers open the Class AA tournament in the Granite City Memorial Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow against the East St. Louis Flyers.

South's Warriors then take on the Lincoln High Tigers in a 7:30 p.m. contest Wednesday.

Winners of the two contests will clash at 7:30 p.m. Friday for the regional title and the right to advance into sectional competition.

Though the Steelers ended the regular season with an 9-15 win-loss record, Coach Bill Ohlendorf's cagers have topped opposing teams on paper — 353-337 in field goals made, 327-312 from the charity stripe, and 571-568 in rebounding.

North's Steelers' scoring effort during the season has been Jerry Barnett with a 24-game total of 478 points.

Other totals include 373 points by Rodney Wortham, 150 by Brian Smith, 131 by Bob Schneider and 71 by Gary Paul.

Other Steelers who have seen action include Chris Page, Alan Warfield, Randy Vandergriff, Rich Willard, Brad Gausen, Dennis Page, Bob Batey, Don Cook and Russ Chappell.

GCHS South, in addition to the loss to North, bowed during the regular season 57-88 to the East St. Louis Flyers.

South's opponents have held the edge 581-518 from the field and 319-276 at the free throw line.

Terry Angle, sidelined for eight games due to illness, has put 277 points on the scoreboard for South.

Ton Hennrich has tallied 219 and David Rhodes 164.

Aiding South's 1976-77 season also have been Terry Jones, Jay Heubner, John Lakin, Roland Hurt, Tim Anderson, Greg Feigl, Tom Mahl, Jeff Parker and Mike DeGonia.

Tickets for each contest here will be available at the gymnasium door each night at a cost of $2 for everyone.

GC, Alton advance in ice tourney

The 1976-77 Madison St. Clair Counties Junior Ice Hockey League post-season tournament championship battle has boiled down to two former champions at the Wilson Park ice rink at 10 p.m. Saturday, March 5 — Granite City and Alton.

Alton, a former two-time season titlist, beat Collinsville 10-2 here Friday night in opening the tournament and then topped league leader O'Fallon 5-3 Saturday night.

Wood River and Metro met in a second contest Friday, Wood River winning 12-1 to advance into a Saturday night clash with the Granite City Bruins.

The Bruins took command immediately on goals by Roger Mueller, Danny Pecht and Benny Brown before Wood River scored twice in the third and final period.

Four teams which fell to the wayside in opening-round competition will battle this weekend for consolation honors.

Collinsville and Wood River will clash at 10:30 p.m. Friday, followed at 11:30 p.m. by a contest between Metro and O'Fallon. The consolation title game will be played at 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

Steeler quintet is edged by Hillsboro Cahokia teams

The Steelers of GCHS North enter tomorrow's opening-round contest of the GCHS South Class AA basketball regional — against East St. Louis here at 7:30 — with a 9-15 record after losing twice during the weekend, 50-48 and 70-61 Friday to Hillsboro and 70-61 Saturday at Cahokia.

Coach William "Bill" Ohlendorf's North cagers outscored each opponent from the floor, but was outdistanced in each game at the charity stripe.

North played Hillsboro's Hilltoppers closely, trailing 8-6 and then 22-21 before taking a 37-34 third-quarter lead through a 12-point scoring effort by Jerry Barnett in the third period.

Hillsboro outscored the Steelers 16-11 in the final period, including a game-winning 20-foot shot from the floor by Glen Hobbie. North was unable to score in the final 15 seconds.

The Steelers made 23 field goals in 55 attempts and the visitors 20 of 50. Hillsboro tossed in 10 foul shots and North two.

North made the most fouls, 16-9, and the fewest turnovers, 13-15. North High recovered 27 rebounds and the Hilltoppers 21. Hobbie led Hillsboro with 17 points, one less than North's Barnett.

Scoring also for North were Rodney Wortham 14, Brian Smith six and Gary Paul and Bob Schneider, five each.

The Steelers trailed Cahokia Saturday night 17-13, 37-29 and 52-45 at the quarters. Cahokia outscored North 18-16 in the final period, making 10 free throws in 13 attempts.

A 10-point fourth-period effort by Wortham desiccated the contest at 57-57 with two minutes to play, but the Comanches added 13 points to the Steelers' four during the remaining time, chiefly on free throws.

From the field, North hit on 28 baskets and Cahokia 26. The host squad made 18 free throws and the Steelers five.

North committed the most fouls, 18-9, but had the fewest turnovers, 13-16. Cahokia controlled the backboards, 24-18.

Wortham provided 22 points for North, Barnett 21, Smith 16 and Alan Warfield, two.

Madison repeats as region champion, plays unbeaten Lebanon next

Madison High School cagers have a score to settle.

The Trojans will have that opportunity at 7:30 Wednesday night in Vandalia against Lebanon's Greyhounds in Illinois High School Association Class A (750 enrollment and under) sectional competition.

Coach Larry Graham's basketball team advanced into the basketball sectional competition for the second straight year after successfully defending its regional championship at Columbia Friday night with a 76-57 win over Freeburg.

Madison led 16-10, 43-26 and 65-41 at the quarters. Freeburg outscored Madison 18-11 in the final period but never got close.

The Trojans made seven field goals in 15 attempts in the opening period. Freeburg's five of 15 and in effect decided the game in the second quarter.

Madison held a 17-point lead at halftime after netting eight baskets and 11 free throws in the second quarter.

Madison's second-quarter advance was aided by a Freeburg cold streak.

The Trojans put 12 points on the scoreboard while Freeburg was mustering a single charity toss.

Freeburg's Middlets still suffered from inadequate scoring power in the third quarter, hitting on five field goals while Madison scored 10.

Greg Hughes and John Kramer each scored 21 points for the Middlets, and Kramer pulled down 16 of his team's 35 rebound recoveries.

The Trojans made 30 field goals and 16 free throws while Freeburg scored on 22 shots from the floor and 13 charity tosses.

Madison committed the most fouls, 21-17, but made the fewest turnovers, 11-20.

On the boards, Madison recovered 46. Randall Jones accounted for 14 recoveries and Rodney Davis 11.

Nine different Trojans outscored the scoring, Jones, a 6-5 senior, had 25 points and Anthony King, a 5-8 junior, and Davis, a 6-3 senior, each had 10. James Heard provided nine, Ron Williams eight, Lloyd Williams six, Clayton Harris four, and Keith King and Rodney Cochran, two each.

Madison enters the Vandalia sectional meet with a 23-3 record compared to the undefeated squad's 27-0.

The score the Trojans will seek to avenge Wednesday night is a 73-72 loss at Vandalia 28 years ago at the hands of the Greyhounds.

Vandalia High School, 19-4 record, and Livingston, 23-4, open the tournament Tuesday night, with the victor meeting the Madison-Lebanon survivor in the championship game at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Livingston has lost twice to Lebanon this season, by scores of 60-51 and 76-72, and has defeated Madison, 76-72.

The sectional titlist will advance to super-sectional play at Charleston on Tuesday, March 8.

Basketball Tigers top South 70-53 in season finale

The Warriors of GCHS South concluded their 1976-77 regular season competition with an 8-15 record in bowling 70-53 Saturday night to Edwardsville in the Granite City Memorial Gymnasium.

South High now enters regional play against the Lincoln High School Tigers of East St. Louis here at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Edwardsville led 13-8, 37-36 and 50-30 at the quarters. South outscored the Tigers 23-20 in the final period.

The visitors held the edge from the floor, 26-22, and from the foul line, 18-9.

South committed the most fouls, 19-16, but had the fewest turnovers, 21-17.

"One thing that really hurt us," noted South mentor Don Deterding, "was that they outscored us nearly 21-7. The Tigers pulled down 31 rebounds to South's 18."

"We also hit a cold streak in the third quarter," Deterding said, "hitting on only two field goals in 11 tries."

Terry Angle and John Say each provided 13 points for the Warriors.

Tom Hennrich added 10, Greg Feigl seven, Tim Anderson five, Jackin three and Roland Hurt two.

Here's an oddity from the past football season.

When Lou Holtz was named to coach the New York Jets of the National Football League before last season started, Holtz had attended only one pro football game in his life.

He had been coach at colleges before that, and when he was named coach of the Jets, Holtz revealed that he had seen only one pro football game in person ever before.

Thus, the first game he coached for the Jets last season was only the second pro game he had ever attended!

Wilson, 6 other GC entries applaud champion Khris Whelan

Whelan

Surviving the first round, besides Khris Whelan and Wilson, were 166-pound Wally DeShon of South, 112-pound Keith Whelan of North, 126-pound Matt McCullough of North and 132-pound Dave Gaines of South.

While the first round was encouraging to Granite City — putting South in the number five position in points in the tournament with North number seven — the second round was devastating to Granite City's hopes of having one of its high schools bring home a state crown. Granite City and Reavis High School of Oak Lawn tied for the state championship in 1965.

Only Khris Whelan survived the second round, the others then going into the wrestle-back competition, with their highest goal being a chance at third place.

DeShon won in the first round 9-5 over David Cook of Chicago Vocational High, but lost in the second round to the eventual sixth-place finisher, Ray Auger of Wheeling High School.

DeShon then met Dan Stevens of Sandburg High of Orland Park in the wrestle-back and was surprised by Stevens, being pinned in 59 seconds.

Keith Whelan earned an 11-1 decision over Todd Griffith of Rock Island High School in the first round, and then was overturned 3-2 by the eventual 112-pound runnerup, Bill Porter of Niles West High School in Skokie. In the wrestle-back bracket, Keith Whelan defeated Pat Stier of Joliet Catholic with a pin in 1:24 to challenge Juan Causey of Chicago Heights Bloom.

Causey defeated the injury-hampered Granite Cityan on a pin in 4:54 and went on to win the wrestle-back and third place in the state.

McCullough soundly defeated Kurt Koehling of DeKalb 11-3 before losing to the eventual state champion, Fred Ferrin of Romeoville.

The loss to the champion threw McCullough into the wrestle-back bracket, where he totally controlled Brian Bergan of Rock Falls in a 5-0 match before losing to the eventual sixth-place wrestler, Lance Grackowski of Palatine High School in a 2-1 match not decided until the final horn.

Gaines pinned Oswego's Mark Brooks in 3:47 of round one, but lost 15-1 to Kurt Lewis of Buffalo Groves in the second round.

In the consolation bracket, Gaines lost to Dan Murphy of Homewood-Flossmoor in a close bout.

For Khris Whelan, who has not known defeat this season and carried a 33-0 record into the tournament, the state meet was a surmountable obstacle. He breezed through four matches to find himself on the awards stand with South Coach William "Bill" Schmitt, grand marshal of the tournament, who placed the first-place medal and ribbon over his head.

Whelan, too full of energy to stand still, approached each match like a confident boxer with only the hands of his coach, Bill Whitaker, on his shoulders, restraining him from jumping into action before each previous round had been completed.

He appeared confident and ready for each round and totally dominated the first three bouts, topping Steve Krause of Midlothian Bremen 5-0 in round one and pinning Chicago St. Patrick's Jim Mitchell in the second round with a decisive pin in 59 seconds.

In the third round, he met Mario Campos of Rock Falls and after six of the toughest minutes Campos ever experienced, Khris Whelan's hand was held up by the referee as the victor of a 10-0 shutout.

The semifinal victory put Whelan into the "parade of champions" and ceremonies opening the final round.

He stood in front of his coach for the pre-match ceremonies, ready for action, jumping and swinging his arms to keep his muscles limber for the challenge that awaited.

The lengthy ceremony which preceded the state final bouts may have seemed an eternity for Whelan as he waited through the national anthem, introductions and biographies of Schmitt and of Louis Stimmer of Proviso, Schmitt's co-grand marshal, introductions of the referees and the finalists and semifinals, plus officials in the tournament and other ceremonies.

Luckily, before his nervous energy overcame his ability to control it, Whelan's weight class was called to the mats, the first of the championship bouts.

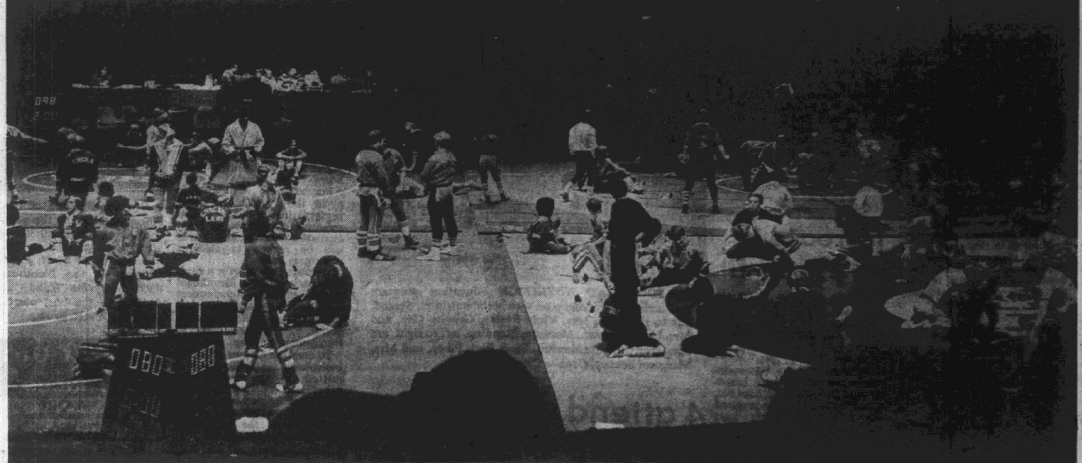

While six mats had been used at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall throughout the previous rounds, only two mats were set up for the championship matches — one for the smaller Class A schools, and the other for the Class AA (75 and over enrollment) schools, including both Granite City schools.

Most eyes seemed to be on Whelan's mat as the wrestlers prepared for the action, since the majority of cheers centered upon action on the Class AA mat, despite similar bouts on the Class A mat a few feet away.

After brief final instructions from Whitaker, Khris Whelan met his opponent in the center of the mat — a feisty bantam-rooster type fighter, Dane Nasenberry of Joliet West High School.

At the whistle, Whelan accomplished a quick takedown to earn the lead.

Although the match points appeared close when Nasenberry brought the score to 3-2, Whelan controlled the action for the entire round, staying on top and "riding" his opponent the majority of the time while Nasenberry tried every trick he had been taught for a reversal, each attempt meeting with an wrestlers, plus their coaches and thousands of fans, converged on Champaign for the Class A and AA competition Friday and Saturday.

effective counter-move by Whelan.

In the third period, Whelan appeared to know victory was his. He broke loose to put his opponent in a predicament and then stayed in control of the situation to the final buzzer.

He seemed to find it difficult to control his excitement through the final handshake with Nasenberry and through the traditional practice of having the referee hold his hand in the air to signal victory.

Whelan then went to "the tunnel" where wrestlers enter the arena floor, where he was warmly greeted by several fellow GCHS North wrestlers, the coaches and the fans who attended.

All in all, the 40th state wrestling tournament of the Illinois High School Association was considered an exciting tournament for the Granite City wrestlers, the coaches and the fans who attended.

Seven experienced "the agony of defeat," but then revelled in Whelan's victory as though it was their own.

For Coach Schmitt, it was a special tournament — one in which he was honored as one of the most outstanding coaches in the history of Illinois. It was announced during the grand parade of champions that Schmitt has had a 30-year coaching career, thus far, in which his teams have won 42 meets while losing only 35 and being tied in eight.

It was detailed over the public address system before a near-capacity crowd that Schmitt has coached teams that have won 88 tournaments in Illinois and Missouri. Nineteen were district champions and 22 were sectional championships.

Schmitt has had seven undefeated teams and has coached 63 state place winners including eight champions, it was noted.

He also was recognized for being on the National Collegiate Athletic Association executive committee since 1968, a member of the IHSA wrestling advisory committee for 20 years, a rules interpreter for the IHSA for 20 years, and a past member of the National Federation of State High School Associations rules advisory committee.

It was noted that Schmitt was named to the Hall of Fame of the Illinois Wrestling Coaches and Officials' Association in 1973 and received the national service award from the National Athletic Coaches' Association in 1975.

The 1977 Class AA wrestling champions, besides Khris Whelan, are: 105 pounds — Carl Pierce, Dolton Thorndridge; 112 — Jerry Kelly, Oak Lawn Richards; 119 — Walter Rutrell, Chicago Heights Bloom Trail; 126 — Fred Ferrin, Romeoville; 132 — Greg McCullough, Joliet West; 138 — Scott McGhee, Orland Park Sandburg.

Also, 145 — Tony Scott, Rock Island; 155 — Bill Castens, Darien Hinsdale South; 167 — Eric Moll, Sarrington; 182 — Geno Savagnag, Glenbard North of Carol Stream, and unlimited weight — Tim Norman, West Chicago.

New Class A champions are: 98 pounds — Bernie Ruettiger, New Lenox Providence; 105 — Jerry Ruab, Stockton; 112 — Dennis Lizer, Dakota; 119 — Pat Johnson, Savanna; 126 — Dave Melhus, Savanna; 132 — Collin Johnson, Stillman Valley; 138 — Brian Mumma, Port Byron Riverdale; 145 — Mark Mitchell, Mookda; 155 — Guy Allen, Delavan; 167 — Chris Nugent, Wilmington; 185 — Jeff Franklin, Kankakee McNamara, and unlimited — Dave Gonzales, Sterling Newman.

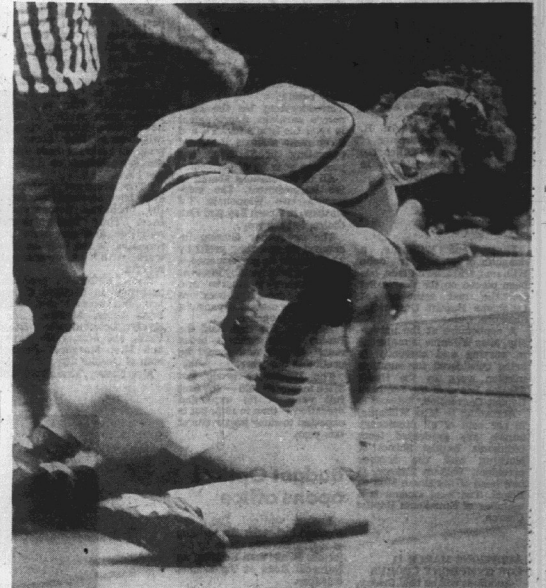

He also was elected a member of the all-state team in both years.

SSU Coach Aydin Gonsalen said he is happy Petri will be a member of Sangamon State's first varsity soccer team. "The goalie is a key position on a soccer team, and Larry has the tournament experience behind him to make him a seasoned player," Gonsalen said.

BAC Coach Mike Moore echoed Gonsalen's sentiments. "Larry plays well under pressure and has good hands and excellent reflexes," Moore said.

While playing for Belleville, Petri competed successfully in an interregional tournament which included competition from teams in Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio. Thus, he has experience in national competition.

While attending Granite City high schools, Petri was elected to the all-regional soccer team and was named the outstanding

Petri goalie for new Sangamon soccer team

The most valuable player on the Belleville Area College soccer team will compete this fall at Sangamon State University, Springfield.

Larry A. Petri, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Petri, 1725 Moro Ave., Granite City, was the goalie for the Belleville team which won the state championship for two consecutive years.

He also was elected a member of the all-state team in both years.

SSU Coach Aydin Gonsalen said he is happy Petri will be a member of Sangamon State's first varsity soccer team. "The goalie is a key position on a soccer team, and Larry has the tournament experience behind him to make him a seasoned player," Gonsalen said.

BAC Coach Mike Moore echoed Gonsalen's sentiments. "Larry plays well under pressure and has good hands and excellent reflexes," Moore said.

While playing for Belleville, Petri competed successfully in an interregional tournament which included competition from teams in Illinois, Wisconsin and Ohio. Thus, he has experience in national competition.

While attending Granite City high schools, Petri was elected to the all-regional soccer team and was named the outstanding

Mackay joins Scott's staff

Attorney General William J. Scott on Tuesday formally announced the appointment of U.S. Attorney Donald B. Mackay as director of the attorney general's Anti-Trust Division in Springfield.

The appointment will be effective March 15th, when Mackay terminates his duties as U.S. attorney for the local district, the Southern District of Illinois. He had assumed the duties of that office in May 1971.

Mackay, 38, resides with his wife and 3 children in Springfield. Mackay was in private practice in Bloomington before he assumed the federal post. He previously served as McLean County public defender. He received his law degree from the John Marshall Law School in Chicago in 1963.

Scott also announced appointment of former State Senator James P. Bell of Joliet as chief of the attorney general's Crime Victims Compensation Division. The division is responsible for administering the state law which provides funds for persons injured by criminals. While in the Senate, Bell helped obtain passage of crime victim compensation laws.

As part of his new duties, he will work to obtain passage of Scott's proposals to bolster the funding and improve the scope of crime victims' compensation.

Peter B. Bessinger was formerly chief of the division and left the post to take charge of the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency in Washington.

Increase in yearly profit

Post Corporation last week reported 1976 earnings of $2,087,250, or $2.38 per share, from continuing operations — compared with $1,586,317, or $1.82 per share in 1975.

Revenues of the Wisconsin-based newspaper and broadcasting firm totaled $25,500,000, up 21 per cent from the previous year. Operating costs were $23,157,000, up 22 per cent.

A spokesman attributed the 32 per cent increase in earnings to strong advertising demand in both the newspaper and broadcasting industries.

He said this strength has continued in the early months of 1977.

In 1975, Post disposed of an insurance subsidiary and reported a loss for that year of $1.14 per share. The spokesman said there is no "holdover" from the insurance operation that could affect future company results.

Broadcasting led the company's earnings improvement in 1976; the firm's four TV and three radio stations increased operating profit over the previous year by 47 per cent.

All of the stations shared in the improvement. The company's two Wisconsin TV stations, in Green Bay and Eau Claire, led the way.

The newspaper division increased its operating profit by 3.5 per cent; its performance is still being held back by losses at the company's Boston and Milwaukee suburban operations where large market expansions have been launched.

However, the firm said the Boston group "almost broke even" in 1976 and should be profitable this year.

The Milwaukee group lost more money in 1976 — the first full year of its expanded operation — than in 1975, but is expected to show improvement this year.

4 attend workshop

The four program assistants employed here by the University of Illinois Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) have attended a workshop on teen nutrition in Marion, Ill.

EFNEP began in 1969 as a part of a national University Extension Service effort to bring food and nutrition information to families with limited incomes.

Program assistants take the programs to "people in the community." They are paraprofessionals working in their home communities, visiting neighbors in their homes. A program assistant deals with a family's problems on a one-on-one basis.

"The program assistants know from personal experience the problems homemakers face. They teach useful nutrition and consumer information to the families they work with," a spokesman reports.

The EFNEP program assistants in Madison County are: Mrs. Lenora Brown, Eagle Park Acres, Madison; Mrs. Evelyn Schneidewind, State Park; and Mrs. Viola Favier and Mrs. Margaret Feeney, both of Granite City.

convocation at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Communications Building theater. Because the theater has seating for only 400 persons, facilities of the university's department of mass communications will be utilized to broadcast the president's speech.

Television monitors will be placed in two locations in the lobby of the Communications Building and in the Goshen Lounge of the University Center.

Richard Jennings, an engineer for the University Broadcasting Service, said campus television viewers will be able to see Pres. Shaw on Channel 3, 7 or 13. The speech also will be videotaped for later presentations.

Dr. Shaw will discuss problems which were ranked according to priority by 150 representatives of university constituencies in a five-hour marathon session Feb. 11 in the University Center. He comments, "My remarks will revolve around the kind of university community I think we should have, and I will indicate how we should attack the problems."

The problems, ranked according to priority, are:

Institutional excellence, administration, budget, planning, student concerns, curriculum, governance, East St. Louis Center, recruitment and retention of students, personnel policies and operations, salaries, external relations, morale, affirmative action, internal communications and collective bargaining.

The ranking of the problems was the second step in a "Problem Identification Process" (PIP), designed by Shaw to establish university priorities and resolve problems.

At his request, various units of the university provided the president with their views of the challenges of greatest concern. Thirty-four reports were received, and 141 specific problem statements were identified.

The statements were categorized and grouped under 16 broader headings for submission to the PIP participants and discussion leaders. A written report to the University community, indicating the priority rankings, was released by the president. The report also included comments of the discussion

YOU CAN LEAD A HORSE . . .

There's an old story that "you can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink." Sometimes we run such outstanding ads that get such poor response that we say to ourselves, "Isn't anyone out there listening?"

Of course, our regular customers do read our ads and do respond. Our problem is "what about the rest of the people?"

Every once in a while we do get someone who comes in and tells us, "I've been reading your ads for a long time and finally decided to see for myself." This really makes our day and when it happens we know that the "horse is drinking."

That's why we started this piece by saying "You can lead a horse . . ."

Financial 'time bombs' face Illinois

Governor James R. Thompson last week accepted a report on the state's fiscal condition from the Illinois Fiscal Commission during a meeting in his office. After a review of the report, the governor issued the following statement:

"I have had a chance to briefly examine the preliminary report of the Illinois Fiscal Commission which I received this morning. I commend Chairman Thomas and his fellow commissioners and their staff for a thorough and professional analysis. I am gratified that the Commission unanimously agreed with the thrust of my recent economic messages

that:

(1) "We have now had three years of deficit spending and are borrowing from future years' revenue to finance current obligations."

(2) "There are uncertainties in our future — the inherited fiscal 'time bombs' — which make budgeting for fiscal 1978 a more difficult process and which, in my opinion, call for budgeting on the most conservative view of the operating balance at the end of fiscal 1977 and the projected new revenue for fiscal 1978."

(3) "It is imperative that the state achieve an operating surplus in fiscal 1978 so that the accumulated operating deficit can be reduced or eliminated and cash balances restored to higher levels."

"In other words, revenues must exceed expenditures so that a fourth successive deficit is not incurred. This is essential as a matter of sound fiscal management, including the preservation of the superior credit rating on Illinois' general obligation bonds."

"There appears to be only one point of contention. The commission estimates that we will end fiscal year 1977 with a balance in the General Revenue funds in the range of $30 million to $110 million."

"This range is apparently employed because of a disagreement between the state treasurer — who predicts $30 million to $40 million — the director of the Bureau of the Budget — who predicts $48 million — and the comptroller — who predicts $85 million to $110 million."

"I know of no data which supports the $110 million figure."

"To budget for fiscal 1978, or to spend for fiscal 1977, on this figure would in my view be exceedingly dangerous."

"It cannot possibly take account of the contingent fiscal liabilities about which the report unanimously warned."

"Taking the higher figure of Treasurer Smith ($40 million) and the lower figure of Comptroller Bakalis ($85 million), the director's estimate of $48 million appears to fall in mid-range and I will continue to rely upon it in the budgeting and appropriation processes," Thompson concluded.

Concern in Illinois on farmland trusts

A proposed fund to invest in agricultural land poses a major threat to the nation's farmers, Harold B. Steele, Illinois Farm Bureau president, told a U.S. Agriculture Committee panel last week in Washington.

The Ag-Land Fund proposed by Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago "could be the first step toward large-scale ownership of farm properties by powerful financial interests," Steele told the subcommittee on family farms and rural development.

A member of the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors, he testified on behalf of the national organization before the subcommittee. It is examining implications to family farms of Ag-Land Fund, an investment trust to purchase and manage farmland.

"Farmers are extremely apprehensive" about the proposal, Steele said, feeling that it "would change the pattern of farmland ownership in this country from local ownership by private individuals or small groups of individuals to absentee ownership by financial institutions or large corporations."

The Farm Bureau spokesman pointed out that "most of our agricultural production comes from family farms, where the bulk of labor and management is provided by the farmer and his family."

He said the new concept "overlooks a key ingredient in the success story of American agriculture, the pride of ownership."

"Pride cannot be written into a balance sheet or a profit-loss statement, but pride of ownership is a key element in the basic tradition of family farms in this country. This tradition should be continued."

The proposed Ag-Land Fund he contended, would adversely increase land values "which have escalated rapidly in recent years as farmers and others have competed for available land."

"Not only would the fund's farmland purchases tend to raise land values, but it would also tend to raise the level of real estate taxes, which are based on land values."

"There is a basic unfairness in allowing tax-exempt organizations to compete with taxing farmers."

"There is no reason why the favorable treatment given to pension trusts under the tax laws should extend to trusts which compete with individual farmers in farming operations."

"Under the proposed plan, the Ag-Land Fund could receive gains from the purchase and sale of land, rentals and profits from its hedging operations without having to pay tax on this income."

"While the bank has indicated its plan would encourage the entry of young people into agriculture, it is doubtful whether the proposed fund would provide much assistance to young farmers."

"We do not believe that the trust company of the bank will entrust farming operations of the magnitude under consideration to relatively inexperienced farmers," Steele

Completes credit school course

Len R. Revelle, assistant cashier of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank, has graduated from the 1977 National Installment Credit School in Norman, Okla. The class was sponsored by the Installment Lending Division of the American Banker's Association.

Revelle was one of 250 bank officers to graduate from the two-week, residential session at the University of Oklahoma. The school utilized lectures, casework and seminar discussions to educate new and experienced bank employees in consumer lending. The faculty included banking officials, businessmen, attorneys, government officials and academicians.

commented.

He said the proposal raises a key public policy question: "Who will control American agriculture in the future?"

The "family farm" concept has been a highly productive and efficient system of food production, he asserted. "It is no accident that American farmers are able to provide consumers at home with ample supplies of food at reasonable prices and at the same time produce more than $22 billion worth of products for sale abroad."

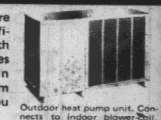

"Such a production system should not be abandoned lightly or allowed to be replaced piecemeal just because we do not have a national policy on ownership and control of agricultural land."

The Farm Bureau spokesman urged the subcommittee to (1) cause an in-depth study to be made of the current ownership of agricultural land, (2) take such action as are necessary to prevent implementation of the proposed Ag-Land Fund or similar plans and (3) conduct fact-finding to develop a national policy on who should control agricultural land and agriculture.

In the event the Internal Revenue Service provides a favorable ruling to the bank's request, he urged legislation to make rents received by the fund and similar trusts, as well as other gains and earnings, taxable upon receipt.

New buses easy to board

Boarding steps which lower to within inches of street level, modern interior design, and exit doors which respond to the touch of a hand are among the features of 171 new transit buses which Bi-State Development Agency will place in service beginning this week.

In announcing receipt of the new vehicles, Executive Director Robert J. Baer noted that they will replace buses which, in some cases, have been operating for as many as 25 years.

Bi-State, whose chairman is Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, expects to be able to retire the last of its "old-look" buses later this year.

Built by The Fibre Company of Louisville, Ohio, a subsidiary of Rohm Industries, the new buses have been designed to facilitate boarding by elderly or handicapped persons.

All will be equipped with an operator-controlled "kneeling" device which will lower the front steps as much as five inches.

This accessory is expected to be especially valuable to senior citizens, disabled persons and small children boarding from street level when a bus is prevented from reaching the curb at a bus-stop zone.

In addition, 60 of the new buses will be equipped with wheelchair lifts and securement areas.

Baer said he believes Bi-State is the first transit system in the nation to offer "fully accessible" buses in regular service. The vehicles will be assigned to specific trips on 10 heavily traveled Bi-State lines beginning in April.

Passengers on the new buses will notice several other changes from present Bi-State buses.

The rear doors will be rider-activated. When the bus comes to a complete stop, the operator will electronically "unlock" the doors, and the person wishing to disembark can cause the doors to open merely by touching the door handle.

After the last passenger has alighted, the doors will automatically close and be locked by the operator before the vehicle can proceed.

This device, Baer said, will permit more efficient departure of passengers in addition to preserving the interior heat or air-conditioning.

Change is also evident in the front doors of the bus, which are wider than on current models. The new door design will permit possible future "retrofitting" of the 111 buses ordered without wheelchair lifts—if the "fully accessible" buses prove successful in a trial program.

All 171 buses will have a new lower handrail near the dashboard to aid elderly or handicapped riders as they board, and all of the vehicles will be equipped with two-way radios.

Seats in the new buses reflect a design embodying safety, appearance, comfort and durability. And the vehicles are equipped with tinted windows made of Lexan, a material stronger than glass.

The transmission permits a more efficient shifting of gears. All buses incorporate an increased amount of fire-retardant material and safety railings, and added illumination includes brighter interior lighting and exterior lights over the front and rear doors.

The buses, whose diesel engines emit virtually no carbon monoxide, are certified as meeting or exceeding all current environmental standards, and a newly-designed exhaust system prevents diesel fumes from collecting at street level.

The new buses will gradually be placed in service on all Bi-State lines as they are delivered during the next two months, Baer said.

His purchase was made possible by a $16.3 million federal grant, which matched and was combined with revenue raised locally through the half-cent transportation sales tax in the City of St. Louis and St. Louis County, and operating assistance from the state of Illinois.

Statistics warn—beware of road construction sites

Major road construction can cause a significant increase in the rate of motor vehicle crashes—even on a modern, divided highway.

That's the finding of University of Illinois Medical Center Campus researchers Theodore C. Doerge, M.D., associate professor of epidemiology and of pathology and medicine, and community health, University of Illinois School of Public Health and the Abraham Lincoln School of Medicine, and Paul S. Levy, S.D., professor of biometry, School of Public Health.

The two studies, four segments of the Illinois tollway system, comparing vehicle crash rates for an eight-year period, 1968-1975. Their attention focused on spring and summer months of 1972 and 1973 when portions of the Northwest Tollway (I-90) and Wisconsin Indiana Tollway (I-294) were undergoing major resurfacing work.

"Results of this study leave no doubt about the effect of construction on the rate of crashes," Dr. Doerge said.

The average rate of vehicle crashes on the 42 miles of tollway with construction jumped from 123.7 per 100 million vehicle miles (mvms) traveled before the construction years to 318.1 per 100 mvms during construction months, a 160 per cent increase.

In addition, the average rate of crashes with injuries rose from 41.9 per 100 mvms to 76.1 per 100 mvms, an 80 per cent hike.

According to Dr. Doerge, the increase in crash rates during the construction period is "statistically significant," especially in light of data showing that the general trend of vehicle crashes on segments of the tollway not undergoing construction between 1968 and 1975 was down without any years of notable increases.

Applying average crash rates during pre-construction years to the sections of the tollway system which had major construction, Dr. Doerge and Dr. Levy calculated that 365 property damages ($100 or more) crashes and 81 injury crashes could be blamed on construction in 1972, and 229 property damages and 29 injury crashes could be attributed to 1973 construction.

While construction increased the rates of crashes according to the tollway study, maintaining a separation of traffic within the construction area resulted in smaller increases in injury crash-rates than crossover diversion of traffic from lanes under construction.

For example, Doerge and Levy pointed out that on segments where traffic was diverted into opposite lanes during 1972 construction the injury crash rate jumped from an average 44.3 per 100 mvms to 100.1.

In construction areas where traffic separation was maintained (during 1973), the crash rate rose only slightly—from 40 per 100 mvms to 56.5.

The investigators' recommendations for keeping down the risk of crashes during construction are: separation of opposing traffic streams, if possible; enforcement of reduced speed limits; bright illumination of construction zones, and delineations of lanes and roadways with "highly visible stripes."

Also, "motor vehicles which better cushion and protect their occupants during crashes are positive developments of past years, as is the seat belt—shoulder harness," Dr. Levy and Doerge reported.

They emphasized that their study is unique, since "there appear to be few, if any, data in the medical and traffic safety literature relating rates of injury crashes to road construction."

Discovery of a possible construction effect on the rate of highway accidents was prompted by an earlier study in which they found evidence that reducing speed limits on toll roads can lead to substantial reductions in rates of crashes and injuries.

"When the speed limit was reduced to 55 miles per hour as a result of the oil embargo in 1973, I was curious as to what effect this change might have on the rate of accidents," Dr. Doerge said.

"In analyzing data from the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority, we found crash rates to be significantly lower during the six months of March 1 to Aug.

31, 1974 (just after the speed limit changes went into effect) than crash rates for the corresponding months of any of the six preceding years.

"At the same time, we were alerted to a possible construction effect on the crash rates."

Because "tollway officials have been keeping good records and are cooperative," Dr. Doerge said more University of Illinois at the Medical Center studies are planned. One of them will involve an updating of the construction effect and further analysis of trends in crash rates by adding data from 1975 and 1976.

A second study will be aimed at trying to determine the contributions of different vehicle groups—cars, trucks, buses and recreational vehicles—to the average crash rate on the tollway.

World Day of Prayer at Mt. Nebo Baptist

World Day of Prayer will be celebrated by Church Women United in the Quad-City Area on Friday at Mount Nebo Missionary Baptist Church, 800 Jefferson St., Madison.

Registration and a coffee hour will begin at 9:15 a.m. The service will start at 10 a.m. Church Women United in thousands of local communities across the nation will join the annual chain of prayer that links the first voice at dawn in the tropical islands of the Pacific with millions of others in 170 countries and islands. By night-fall, the day's message, "Love in Action," will have followed the sun's arc until the last prayers are said in units of Church Women United in the islands off the coast of Alaska.

The small group of women who first initiated World Day of Prayer in 1987 firmly believed the mission work for which they were responsible needed their support in prayer, as much as in giving, Mrs. Ron Pennell, local CWU president, said.

Church Women United has continued this tradition through intercontinental mission, a fund for administering the nationwide offerings received on World Day of Prayer, she explained.

As a part of the service, there will be a slide presentation detailing "Love in Action" through the many projects supported by intercontinental mission. A highlight of the service will be music provided by a chorus consisting of women from the local unit of Church Women United.

Since the first small gatherings in the United States 90 years ago, the idea of united prayer by women around the world has increasingly captured the imagination of women in the United States. World Day of Prayer can be described as the most important ecumenical and international observance of the year.

Preparation for the celebration is as internationally far-reaching as the participation in it. World Day of Prayer is under the auspices of an International Committee which has designated Church Women United as the official sponsor of the celebration in the United States.

The worship services are prepared each year by women from a different part of the world and then translated and adapted to meet the individual needs of each participating country. This year's worship service, prepared by the women in the German Democratic Republic, reflects their hope that women will "strive together to find ways—familiar and new ways—for Love in Action."

Gudrun Dietel of the Federal Republic of Germany, who was chairman of the International Committee for the first eight years of its existence, expressed her concern in these words: "Our age is an age where great progress has been made. It is also an age where the suffering of people, suffering in body and soul, has increased."

"World Day of Prayer is challenging us to discover afresh those who may be our neighbors we have been overlooking; to discover those who may be far away and in need of our support."

In 1977, church women will translate love into action through grants made to meet the needs of people in the six continents in the following areas: spiritual growth, community and family services, socio-economic development, education, health programs, human rights, justice, peace building, women's concerns and hunger in the United States and globally.

Annual grants have enabled nine women's Christian colleges in Asia to pioneer in education for women, helping them to develop their full potential and prepare them for national and international responsibilities. Intercontinental Mission grants have enabled Church Women United to touch lives of women and children through books and magazines related to the realities of their lives; migrants seeking a more human life for themselves and their children; international students in the United States who are preparing for service in their own countries and in the world community; women in international study programs; persons seeking re-creation and renewal through a Christian Ministry in the National Parks; persons faced with disaster, needing immediate relief and long-term rehabilitation.

Celebration of World Day of Prayer this year will prepare the women for fuller participation in the CWU Ecumenical Assembly to be held at Purdue University, West Lafayette, Ind., July 7-10, 1977. As the participants focus on the ways they can express their Christian "Love in Action," they will be clarifying their values as Christian women to focus on the theme of the triennial assembly, "Signatures of Faith."

World Day of Prayer is the most widely observed ecumenical celebration sponsored by Church Women United, the movement through which Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox women express their unity through prayer, fellowship, study and cooperative action in 2,000 local communities in every state across the nation.

Baby-sitting service will be provided during the World Day of Prayer celebration.

Derby judges included Alderman Roy Poulos; Jerry Poole, cubmaster of Pack 46; Max Mills, PTA vice-president; and Robert Shane, Boy Scout leader of Troop 20.

First place ribbons were awarded for the best painted, most original and best constructed to Todd Isom, Glenn Svoboda, Ricky Wise, Brett Asbeck and Webster Jeff Bates. Second place went to Gary Williams, Kenny Hare, Junior Barber, Frankie Soellner and Webster Darrell Pagan; third to Walter Chrusciel, Mark Gauen, Eric Decker and Webster Steven Fisk. Trophy winners were Ricky Wise, Jeff Bates, Glenn Svoboda and Brett Asbeck. During the meeting Bobby Adams was advanced to the rank of Webelos.

Guilds observe Lenten season

The Afternoon and Evening Guilds of St. Peter's Evangelical United Church of Christ opened the Lenten season by serving an Ash Wednesday breakfast last week to approximately 80 members and guests in the church Fellowship Hall.

Those in charge of the devotional program, which followed the breakfast, were Mrs. Louise Favier, Mrs. Pauletta Mueller, and Mrs. Loretta Hurry.

Mrs. Mueller introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Bethel Davis from the Gospel Mission who told us how the Gospel Mission was started and of its continuous progress for the past 58 years.

After the breakfast the guild had a workshop for the Hill Nursing Home in Alhambra, Ill. They made pads and bits for residents of the home. The next Afternoon Guild meeting will be on Thursday, March 3rd, beginning with a dessert luncheon to be served at 12 noon. The organist of the church will present a program "Music in Religion" to be held in the sanctuary. All ladies of the church are invited, it was noted.

Xi Epsilon Chi holds ritual

A formal ritual of jewel ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Carol Cathey, president of Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, for Mrs. Janet Monaghan, last week at the chapter's regular meeting. Mrs. Phyllis Kubelka, 736 Ashland Ave., was hostess to the group.

Mrs. Monaghan presented a program on television entitled, "Something for Everyone" and discussed the influence of television which dominate the daily lives of adults and children.

The president announced the chapter will provide entertainment and programs at a Founders Day observance with all sorority chapters attending. A special meeting will be held March 16 at St. John United Church of Christ for all chapters, Mrs. Cathey noted.

The travel basket was presented to Marilyn Lumpkins, during the session. Cathy Fairbank, 814 Third St., Venice, will host the March 7 meeting it was announced. Refreshments were served by the hostesses to those named and to Barbara Jones, Donna Lane and Joan Pritchard.

BAD RENT CHECK William Kimpler, 2450 Cleveland Blvd., reported Thursday, a former tenant who rented property at 2343 Edison Ave., had paid him rent with a check for $80 after closing his account at a local bank. The individual has since moved to St. Louis County, he said.

NEW MEMBER of the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society, the Rev. Marvin Peters, pastor of the First Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, on right, accepting the organization's plaque from Walter Padgett, membership chairman, on the steps of the church.

First Baptist Church becomes Restoration Society member

The First Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, pastored by the Rev. Marvin Peters, became the first area church to join the Downtown Neighborhood Restoration Society, according to Mrs. Judy Padgett, president of the organization.

Organized on Aug. 6, 1901, the church held its first meetings on the present site of Emerson School and in 1903 laid the cornerstone of the present structure, which was dedicated on June 12, 1904.

The church withdrew from the Northern Baptist Convention on Aug. 11, 1918, and joined the Southern Baptist Convention.

A parsonage was purchased at 2601 Iowa St., on June 4, 1924 and in 1950 the indebtedness of the church was liquidated.

The congregation agreed to set up a building fund in 1952 starting with $1,000 and adding 10 per cent of each Sunday's offering. This fund enabled the church to purchase the present educational building, next door to the church, at a cost of $50,000. The building was remodeled in 1961 and in June of 1970 the church sponsored day care center was moved from Lincoln Place area to the building. The day care center was started on Sept. 1, 1968.

A restoration fund was started in 1975 and since then the complete interior of the church has been restored and redecorated in time for the 75th anniversary of the church held in September 1976.

The first pastor was the Rev. W. W. Morgan and the congregation has welcomed 22 pastors since then including the present minister. Since this was the first church to join the DNRS, Carl Kittel, board member and Walter Padgett, membership chairman, personally presented the Rev. Peters with the DNRS plaque. The church has tentatively been named to be included on the DNRS spring tour for 1978.

Pack 28 hosts annual dinner

To mark the 47th year of cub scouting, Pack 28 sponsored by Parkway School PTA, used a birthday theme to decorate the tables for the annual blue and gold banquet held last week in the school cafeteria.

Den Two served as color guard and Cubmaster Dale Ashmore gave special recognition to all adults who are involved pack activities and urged the pack to seek new members and adult leaders.

Special guests were Mrs. Agnes Fryntak, school principal and her husband Vladimir Fryntak, Mrs. Pat Bienenick, PTA president, Erwin Stengel, neighborhood commissioner and Mrs. Stengel.

Following the dinner a program was presented by Len Fuchs and members of his YMCA judo class.

Larry McIlvoy, pack treasurer, presented the Bobcat badge to Randy Burgess and Bear Badges to Greg Kessler, Greg McIlvoy and David Menendez.

In conclusion the parents and scouts sang several cub scout songs.

Vadalabene on 4 key committees

Senator Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, will be a member of four committees in the Illinois Senate during the coming session.

He will continue as chairman of the Committee on Executive Appointments and Administration, and he has been designated as vice-chairman of Appropriations II, which will handle many bills for higher education and social services. He also will serve on the committees on Higher Education and Local Government.

"Although the range of committee responsibilities given to me by Senate President Thomas Hynes is challenging, it will enable me to pursue matters that I have long been interested in as a member of the General Assembly," Vadalabene said.

"Service on these committees will give me the chance to further the needs of the district I represent and address some serious problems we are facing. Of course, Higher Education has been a major interest of mine from the beginning. With institutions like Southern Illinois University facing crucial problems, I hope to be able to help that institution reach the fullness of its promise," Sen. Vadalabene continued.

"With the present fiscal condition of the state, I will try to act as watchdog, making sure proper priorities are set and commitments are fulfilled.

"In an area like this region, it seems like new situations are arising daily. I will do my best to meet the needs of the district and state."

STATE NURSING HOME LICENSES REVOKED

Three owners of five Chicago-area nursing homes last week consented to revocation of their administrators' licenses by the Illinois Department of Registration and Education. The owners pleaded guilty in federal court to soliciting and receiving bribes from two pharmacies in return for permitting the pharmacies to provide drugs and pharmaceutical supplies to the nursing homes.

The scheme, according to the guilty pleas, included use of U.S. mails and concealing the true nature of the bribes and kickbacks from administrators of the U.S. Medicare program.

BOY SCOUTS OF TROOP 102, sponsored by Suburban Baptist Church, visit with residents at the Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville last week. Fourteen Scouts and three leaders visited the home and talked with the elderly residents. Mrs. Matilda Butts visits here with Bill Winter, center, and Jack Taylor, both members of Troop 102.

F-15 affects 4,000 jobs

President Jimmy Carter is being asked to reconsider cuts in the federal budget affecting the regional economy. A proposed cutback in production of the F-15 fighter plane at McDonnell Douglas and elimination of funds for further construction work on Meramec Park Lake would cost the region an estimated 10,000 jobs, business leaders are contending.

More than twice as many St. Louis area workers are unemployed now than in 1966. It is believed the F-15 cutback would reduce employment by 4,000 in 1979. Completion of Meramec Park Lake would provide 6,300 new jobs, it is being asserted.

It is said to be unwise to abandon "a carefully-evaluated federal enterprise" like the Meramec dam project while initiating federal job-producing projects "of undetermined environmental impact on which cost-benefit ratios have not been established."

In proposing a reduction in F-

15 purchases and eliminating a $10 million allocation for continuing work on the lake, the President was implementing general policies for reducing water resource and defense spending. Effects on the economy here were not regarded as factors of principal consideration. Meramec Park Lake was authorized in 1966. There are nearly 50,000 fewer jobs in manufacturing and 5,000 fewer persons in contract construction in the St. Louis area than in 1966.

CHARGED WITH TRESPASS
Police arrested Martin E. Glaspie, 52, of 1911 Grand Ave., on a warrant charging him with criminal trespass to property while the man was walking in an alley at the rear of the 1800 block of State Street Thursday. Glaspie pleaded innocent to the charge before Judge A. A. Mateosian, who set a $1,000 recognizance bond.

YOUNG VISITOR Wayne Parker, a member of Boy Scout Troop 102, gets a hug from Mrs. Floy Neudecker last week as members of the troop visited at the Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville.

A 1976 red 750cc motorcycle belonging to Robert Cox, 4101 Rode Ave., was reported stolen from the parking area at A. O. Smith Corp., at 11:15 p.m. Thursday.

We need your cooperation

Please report any natural gas leak immediately

Phone the Illinois Power emergency gas leak number 876-1280

The Extraordinary Cold this winter has put severe pressure on underground gas lines. In some cases, this unusual pressure may be more than a line can withstand.

Illinois Power is taking extra steps to monitor our gas mains to detect possible leaks. But we can't be everywhere. So we need the cooperation of everyone.

Be Alert for The Odor of Natural Gas. We add a distinctive odor to the gas that makes it easy to identify.

If you smell a gas leak anywhere, indoors or outdoors, phone us immediately. Tell our operator you're reporting a gas leak. Then tell the location. We'll have a serviceman there right away. Please be on hand when he arrives to help him locate the leak as fast as possible. Our crews are on duty and our emergency phone is manned 24 hours a day.

If You Smell Natural Gas Indoors, leave the building immediately and call us from the nearest phone. Don't flip light switches or use any electric equipment, including the telephone, inside a building where there's a gas leak. Don't light matches or candles. Don't try to find the leak yourself.

Make a note of our emergency gas leak number. And call us at once if you smell natural gas.

Your cooperation in reporting gas leaks can save lives.

Tornado funneled process outlined

(American Institute of Physics)

Many theories have attempted to explain the nature and origin of tornadoes, but no one really understands how they are formed.

In an article in Physics of Fluids, investigators at Iowa State University report on observation of the mechanism of tornado funnel formation in a specially-constructed tornado simulator.

What has been known about tornado funnels is that they are usually associated with what are called tornadic cyclones.

Such cyclones are whirlpool-like structures, or vortices, that are reminiscent of the fluid motion observed when bathtubs are drained, except that they can have diameters of from three to 30 miles.

They occur in regions where winds join from different directions, for example, northerly wind from Canada and southerly wind from the Gulf of Mexico.

In the Northern Hemisphere, these winds are rotated to the right of their directions of travel as a result of the rotation of the earth.

Consequently, cyclonic counterclockwise motion is established where winds from different directions converge.

In an unstable atmosphere, where cold air advances above warm, moist air, vertical motion is included with the cyclonic motion.

At Iowa State, Cheng-Ting Hsu and Behrooz Fattahi conducted experiments to simulate the interaction of a tornadic cyclone with the earth's surface. A tornado cyclone is produced at first in a chamber with a rotating disk.

The experiment proceeded as the scientists vary the distance between the bottom of the chamber and the rotating disk.

They find that the effect of the ground plane (corresponding to the earth's surface) is to concentrate the vorticity near that plane and cause it to move upward.

Friction at the ground plane, explain the researchers, is responsible for this radially inward and upward motion of concentrated vorticity.

At a later stage of the vortex-ground interaction, the researchers find that when the invisible, upward moving vortex penetrates into the cloud base a portion of the cloud base twists in a downward movement through the inside of the vortex.

It is this combined, strong, rotational and upward motion that causes severe ground damage—such as the uprooting of trees and the appearance of the tornado funnel.

Scouting USA emphasis discussed

To the Editor:
The introduction of our new logo and changes in our program have resulted in some misunderstanding and incorrect use of terms, so we thought you'd like to have our explanation.

Scouting-USA is the BSA's new communicative handle. It will continue to be the Boy Scouts of America. We'll use our new logo on a wide range of graphics such as signs, posters, calling cards, literature, letterheads and other places where a brief, strong, recognizable identity is required.

Membership cards, awards and other legal documents will continue to say Boy Scouts of America.

Our council offices in over 420 communities will use their existing names and BSA (such as Chokio Mounds Council, Boy Scouts of America), plus the new logo.

Why the change? Corporations adopt new logos because of mergers, acquisitions and diversification. None of that for us.

But our volunteer agencies, Sandgren & Murtha and N.W. Ayer, told us Boy Scouts of America was appropriate when we were founded in 1910, but didn't fit all the things we're into in a changing society.

The word "boy" is objectionable to minorities, our young adult (male and female) leaders and, naturally, to the young women enrolled in our coed Exploring program.

Scouting-USA is more than a brief, strong, recognizable identity. It is a new name for a new era.

Now a few words about some Scouting-USA myths.

Scouting-USA is not Cub Scouts. It is for boys from eight to 11. It is not a new organization. It is the same organization that has been around since 1910. It's all right to call members of both "Cub Scouts."

Den mother is a no-no. Cub Scouts are organized into units called dens, generally six to eight boys, led by a den leader who may be male or female.

Dens are grouped into Cub Scout packs, headed by a male or female cubmaster, not a cub scoutmaster.

Scouting-USA is not a new organization. It is the same organization that has been around since 1910. It's all right to call members of both "Cub Scouts."

Fast response to ambulance shutdown

To the Editor:
If not for his quick actions, we might have to ride in police cars to receive treatment.

I am the microfilm operator for the city and was not selected for the job with the ambulance shutdown.

I saw the long nights put in by our mayor while dealing with the problem. To me, this shows his sincere dedication to his job and his concern for the people.

Absentee ownership causes problems

To the Editor:
In this important year of 1977 it is worthwhile to comment on income tax versus property tax.

What would happen if I had untold wealth, and we had no property tax? I could buy up land, coal, oil and minerals, deposits, farms, forests, developments, industries and homes and let them remain idle or empty until I could get the prices I wanted.

I could deny them to people in need, I could pauperize the nation and laugh at the misery I could create.

As a foreign investor, I would not know or care what havoc I was causing.

Property tax does not permit this to happen. It costs money to let property lay idle or empty, especially valuable property.

The cost of collecting the property tax is cheap, compared to any other tax. It is assessed once, and for years the only cost, practically, is billing and collecting.

On the other hand, income tax is the most unfair and unproductive tax to the economy as a whole. Formerly, President Rockefeller used all of his wealth paid no income tax one year.

He took all the legal advantages of loopholes, etc. That is his privilege.

If all the time spent in keeping records, computing the income tax, enforcing it, is considered, then the income tax becomes a poorly productive tax as compared to other taxes.

Another important angle to consider regarding the IRS is its potential danger to a free democracy. In the hands of a corrupt, powerful group or person, it could silence or crush all opposition.

Under the income tax, the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. That is the way it works, whether we like it or not.

Under the wealth distribution, percentage-wise, we are no better off than India. The difference is that, as a nation, we are wealthier so, individually, we have more than the individuals in India.

When a foreign corporation pays only the corporation tax, and no individual income tax on the U.S. This is terrific competition for American concerns. It is unfair, leading to foreign ownership.

Income tax today is an absentee ownership country for centuries, stayed pauperized.

Foreign owners, mostly English, would not let the people better themselves and there is little, if any, taxes, particularly property taxes.

The same was true of Russia, Yugoslavia, Spain, Portugal and other countries that were held back.

Another form of absentee ownership is the local type. Count Estabrook of Hungary, in the early part of this century, is an example.

He pauperized the people, on his vast estate, so as to create himself a reputation as the biggest spender in Europe or on earth. That matter is over.

All his profits were squandered on ultra-high, lavish living in Paris, London, Berlin, Vienna, Budapest and other cities.

This form of absentee owner was common in Austria, Hungary, Poland, Russia and other agricultural countries of Europe that were in a sort of feudal system of government at that time.

Congressman Paul Findley (R-Ill., 20th District) has sounded an alarm about farm trusts being created. It has all the earmarks of absentee landlords or owners.

I have never seen any farmer renting land to farm that they were not progressing.

Believe me, in farming you made a little money, their rent went up. And the first bad year they had, they went broke.

When, several years ago, Congress cut down on subsidies, railroads got into trouble. Penn Central was a major casualty.

While other railroads are in trouble, at least now they are trying to compete. But, in the long run, it is too late.

That's why, for many years, there has been no little progress on railroads. They are in bad shape.

Decatur, Ill. Therefore, as a candidate, I am again contacting the person who is the other candidate directly.

"My reply is based upon news accounts of your letter to me. I have not received that letter. Perhaps if you would kindly address future letters to my principal place of business, Granite Sheet Metal Works, Inc., or my home, 2801 Edison Ave., there would be no problem.

"Interjecting Thomas Ambulance Service into your correspondence seems improper and unnecessary. We'll discuss this if you appear at public forums as proposed.

"I will appear as scheduled on Feb. 28, 1977.

"I share with you a concern that prospective voters should be fully informed. Therefore, I will be happy to meet with you to discuss concerns for our city at any place and time suggested by you.

"Do any other dates I have proposed conflict with any commitment you may have concerning our city? If so, please advise," Partney concluded.

Boyd replied, "In regard to your letter dated Feb. 25, received Feb. 26, I regret we missed your telephone call Thursday, but as my daughter indicated to you I would be home from Decatur Friday, Feb. 25.

"The dates you requested in your original letter are not acceptable, due to the mayor's prior city commitments. But we are in complete and total agreement with suggestions for a debate to clarify the issues and let the public consider the qualifications of the candidates.

"We would suggest the debate be conducted at Granite City Community High School (South). Any of these dates would be acceptable to Mayor Schuler: March 11, 18, 25 or April 1, 1977.

"We believe the program should have a good civic-minded moderator who is concerned about the people and progress of Granite City."

After listing 12 possible moderators, Alderman Boyd continued, "The program would be commenced with an invocation of anyone of your choice, preferably a minister or priest from Granite City, and proceed with an introduction of the mayor and candidate with an opening statement of his qualifications and why he seeks the esteemed office of mayor, with a time limit not to exceed 15 minutes by each party. "Any one of the above names mentioned heretofore would be acceptable to the mayor as timekeeper."

"The program would then proceed with questions from the audience by people in attendance, on cards, and be submitted to two assistant moderators who would field the questions to the candidates for answering.

"Here again, any of the names mentioned above would be acceptable to the mayor as assistant moderators."

"In conclusion, each candidate would be allotted 10 minutes to conclude the program.

"We suggest the program commence at 7:30 p.m. and conclude at 9 p.m."

"In respect to the cost of rental, we will share equally with you any cost. If there would be no cost, we would suggest coffee, cookies, doughnuts for the guests and good citizens of Granite City. We suggest this, even if there would be a cost."

"In respect to the benediction, we would make the selection."

"The moderator would establish which candidate would commence the program and conclude such."

Mrs. Norma Mendoza, a city clerk candidate, has challenged City Clerk Robert Stevens to appear jointly at two meetings.

It has been indicated that Partney plans to "debate" an empty chair at 7:30 tonight at the Anchorage Center.

Mayor Schuler has said the initial four-meeting schedule was prepared by Partney without consulting the mayor's meeting schedule.

Putnick retires from Treasury Department

Walter M. Putnick, 2305 Westview Drive, Springfield, formerly of Granite City, has retired from the Internal Revenue Service, ending a career of 23 years.

At the time of his retirement he was employed as chief of the Technical Branch of the Audit Division of the Springfield IRS district, responsible for management of technical and procedural review of audit reports, and for conference activities involving the resolution of unagreed tax deficiencies.

Putnick began his IRS career in 1949 as a U.S. deputy collector in Belleville. He assumed a supervisory position in 1956 in East St. Louis as a revenue agent group manager.

Since that time, he has held a number of responsible positions, including chief, Conference Staff, and manager, Federal Economic Stabilization Program. He is an Army veteran of World War II.

During his federal career, he received a number of commendations and achievement awards in recognition of his work performance.

Putnick attended Granite City schools and the University of Illinois, and holds a bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Illinois, Champaign, and a master's degree in public administration from Sangamon State University, Springfield.

Putnick is married to the former Hattie Wasson, whose mother, Nell Wasson, resides at 2013 E. 28th St., Granite City. His brother, Stephen C., associated with Nesco Steel Barrel Co., resides at 1507 Cottage Ave., Granite City.

DONALD DePAMPHILIS

is replacing Lillian Green

Donald M. DePamphilis has been promoted to director of economic analysis for National Steel Corporation, effective March 1, it was announced today by Richard S. Smith, group vice president.

DePamphilis succeeds Lillian B. Green of Granite City Steel who will continue with National Steel as a consultant.

DePamphilis, 29, joined National Steel in 1976 as associate director of economic analysis. Previously, he was a senior economist at Chase Econometric Associates, Philadelphia, and an economist at the United California Bank, Los Angeles.

After receiving a bachelor degree in economics from the University of Pittsburgh in 1969, he went to Harvard University for graduate work in economics, receiving a master of arts degree from Harvard in 1972 and a doctor of philosophy degree in 1973.

Articles by DePamphilis, primarily on financial economics, have appeared in professional and academic publications. He is a member of the National Association of Business Economists.

National Steel, third largest steel company in the U.S. in terms of production and shipments, operates steel plants in or near the Detroit, Pittsburgh (Weirton, W. Va.), St. Louis and Chicago areas, coal and iron ore mines and related raw materials facilities, service centers and steel fabricating plants and facilities for the production and fabrication of aluminum. It acquired Granite City Steel in 1971.

Expect new form of ailment

Although no cases of a new penicillin-resistant strain of gonorrhea have been confirmed in Illinois, state health officials believe its appearance in the state is a virtual certainty.

Penicillinase-producing Neisseria gonorrhoeae (PPNG) has been identified in 11 other countries and the United States. Nearly 100 cases have been confirmed in 17 states.

Illinois health officials warn that detection of PPNG is complicated by the fact that its symptoms are the same as those of the more familiar strain of gonorrhea. Dr. Allen Koplin, acting director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, explained:

"Due to the current low incidence of PPNG in the United States, diagnosed cases of gonorrhea should be treated with the traditional penicillin dosage. If this is not effective, retest specimens should be sent to the state laboratory for evidence of penicillinase activity."

"If the laboratory tests confirm PPNG, the patient should begin receiving spectinomycin treatment." Spectinomycin is the only antibiotic proven in the treatment of PPNG.

In an effort to lessen the potential for the spread of PPNG in Illinois, Dr. Koplin is urging all gonorrhea patients to return for a "test of cure" within five to 14 days after receiving treatment. "If the test of cure is positive," he said, "or if the patient's symptoms have not disappeared, further testing is essential."

"It is also important," he added, "that any person who may be infected with gonorrhea seek immediate medical attention. While most men will experience symptoms within a few days following infection, most women will not experience symptoms until complications of the disease develop."

"Any strain of untreated gonorrhea," Dr. Koplin said, "can result in sterility, arthritis, blindness, heart disease or other serious complications."

He noted that one effect of the presence of PPNG in the U.S. might be increased in venereal disease rates.

"In 1976, we experienced a 1.5 per cent decrease in gonorrhea rates in Illinois, the first decrease since 1968. "With the introduction of PPNG into the U.S., however, the state health department's venereal disease control staff has had to place top priority on tracing Illinois contacts of PPNG patients in other states. As a result, our routine control efforts for gonorrhea and syphilis have been made more difficult."

RELEASED ON BOND

Mrs. Deborah Bahr, 22, of 1010 Skene St., Madison, has been released on a $5,000 recognizance bond on a charge of aggravated battery.

The charge stems from an alleged fight inside Jim's Place, 1334 Madison Ave., last week in which Mrs. Bahr allegedly struck Mrs. Hazel "Connie" York with a beer bottle. Mrs. York was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital suffering cuts to her nose and the left side of her face.

TOGETHERNESS—1977. Winterfest week at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville each year is a time for general craziness which SIUE students take seriously. There was no fooling around as a team of students put all their efforts, and all their bodies, into a hula hoop stuffing contest (pictured). Other events during Winterfest 1977 included an egg-eating contest, a paper airplane contest, a performance by an escape artist and numerous performances by area bands. Sponsors concluded, "Winterfest still provides a good outlet for tensions before students begin hitting the books for winter quarter final exams."

'Rockathon' planned

The Granite City Society for Crippled Children met last week at the home of President Gertrude Luebben to make "rockathon" plans. Ann Walsh, Barbara Weitz, William Luebben, Mildred Talley and Robert Walsh were elected to the nominating committee. Officers and Directors will be elected at a meeting to be held on March 16.

W. W. "Skip" Christiansen, Robert Walsh and William Luebben were appointed to the ways and means committee. Plans were made to hold the "rockathon" at the Crossroads Shopping Center here, with a tentative date of May 7.

Mrs. Lily Chaboude explained that entrants will be furnished with official sponsor sheets and registration forms.

Those participating will ask friends, relatives and neighbors to sponsor them, with specific amounts per "rocking" hour. Registration will be accepted before the rockathon.

Rocking hours will be from 9 a.m. till 9 p.m. All organizations are to be invited to sponsor a member or participate as a group in the project to aid crippled and handicapped children.

Prizes will be awarded after sponsor sheets and funds are tallied at the annual meeting of the Granite City Society in June.

Statewide tornado drill on March 9

The Illinois Emergency Services Disaster Agency (ESDA), in conjunction with the Missouri Civil Defense and the National Weather Service, has announced a tornado drill to be held at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday, March 9.

The Chicago weather forecast office will issue a message for transmission over NAWAS (National Warning-Alerting System) and NOAA (National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration), initiating the drill.

From that point, the message will be handled by the National Weather Service and Illinois State Police as if it were an actual statewide warning. Preliminary broadcasts will be made by the state police relative to the drill, following their regularly scheduled weekly tests held on Tuesdays, March 1 and 8, on the emergency frequency that activates over 5,000 individual warning systems in schools and emergency services offices in Illinois.

William L. Eisele, ESDA coordinator in Region 8, is recommending that all hospitals and county and city ESDA coordinators participate in the tornado drill. The seven counties in the region are: Bond, Clinton, Madison, Monroe, Randolph, St. Clair and Washington.

Ted Todoroff is the Madison County coordinator.
